Vision Statement

Zakir Husain Delhi College stands steadfast as a champion of some basic values which have acquired greater relevance in contemporary times. Education in this college is not a mere pursuit for information but a holistic development of character with a commitment to building a strong knowledge base with scientific temperament.

Objective

The main objective of the college is academic excellence along with an all round development of personality so as to make our students responsible citizens with a sensitive concern for justice and a sense for fairness.

Brief History :

Zakir Husain Delhi College is the oldest college of North India. It was established at Ajmeri Gate in the late 18th century during the reign of the Emperor Aurangzeb as Madarasa Ghaziuddin, became famous as an oriental college for education in Literature, Science and Arts. Later on, it came to be known as Anglo Arabic College, and then as Delhi College in 1824 and remained so till 1975 when it was renamed after Dr. Zakir Husain, a renowned educationist and the distinguished former President of India. In 1925 the college was affiliated with the University of Delhi. Whether for women's education or the building of scientific temperament, as also for instituting translations, vernacular languages and English, this college has played a vital role.

The college was shifted to its present location in two installments in 1986 and 1991, a location which geographically and symbolically unites Old Delhi with New Delhi, merging old traditions with a constant striving towards progress and modernity.

Today, it is one of the renowned institutions of Delhi University with over 3300 students and a 151 member faculty (permanent).
